

The Genuine Contact way of working is an approach to organizational development that supercharges the work you are already doing, using simple but very effective means that lead to genuine contact really fast. Genuine contact for people with themselves, with each other, and with the purpose of what they are doing together. When this happens, people tap into collective intelligence allowing for better solutions to happen faster for everyday issues and complex challenges. Teams build naturally as a by-product of working towards business goals. Productivity increases alongside job satisfaction.

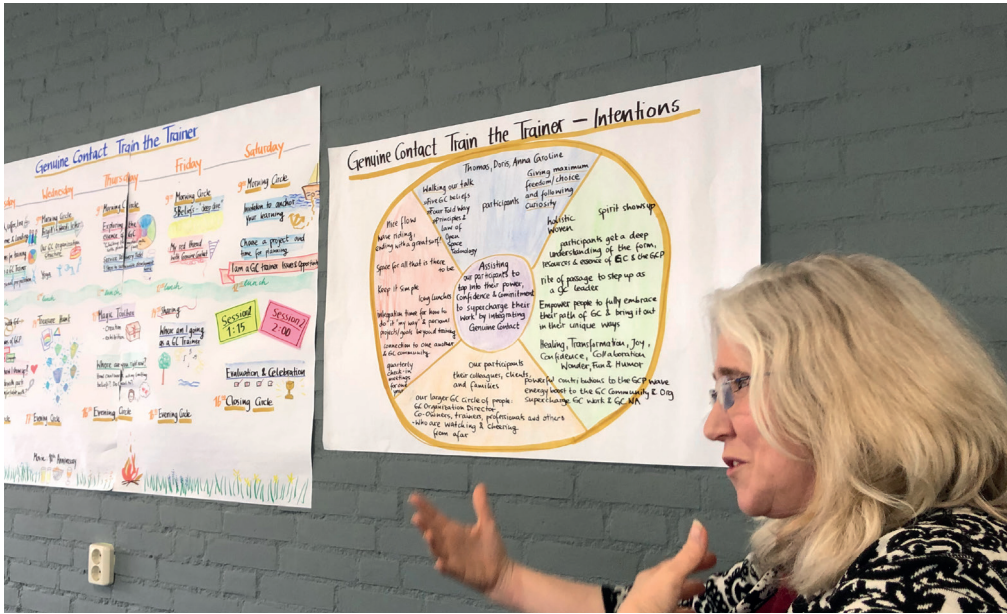

The Genuine Contact™ Program is designed for organizational development and a means to create a culture of leadership, where everyone is invited to take leadership within the givens of the organization. The program is designed to allow leaders maximum freedom and choice for adjustment to the unique situation of their organization and the culture of leadership they wish to nourish. It provides skills and knowledge which will last a lifetime.

GENUINE
CONTACT

| genuinecontact.net

Your learning curve is the road to the future.

The logo consists of the letters 'G' and 'C' in a bold, rounded, sans-serif font. The 'G' and 'C' are connected at their base by a horizontal bar, creating a single, continuous graphic element.

Advanced Skill Building Workshops

Working with Open Space Technology (OST)

A highly participative method for large group meetings, that when used frequently shifts the culture in the organization. You will learn to facilitate OST meetings and you will learn the longer process of planning, debrief and accountability meetings to make optimal use of the results for the benefit of the organization.

Cross Cultural Conflict Resolution (CCCR)

Works from the perspective that underneath the diversity, all humans have some things in common. The workshop supports your contact with yourself and your beliefs about conflicts and provides a design for conflict resolution from a perspective of universal needs and understandings.

Whole Person Process Facilitation (WPPF)

This meeting method is more guided while still offering maximum choice and freedom to participants. It is congruent in values to Open Space Technology. WPPF invites the whole person to be present in the meeting and use his or her full wisdom and potential to find the solutions that are needed.

Genuine Contact Organization (GCO)

An operating system to foster a solution-focused base and achieve sustainable peak performance for a living organization. It provides patterns of simple processes that can handle and benefit from all the complexity within and outside the organization. It also provides a nourishing environment in which the human spirit can flourish creatively and fulfill its potential.

Foundational workshops

Path to Organizational Health and Balance.

An orientation to a holistic approach to organizational success and the resulting benefits from such an approach. It also provides an introduction to some simple, easily duplicated tools.

Individual Health and Balance for Leaders.

Provides a framework to examine your personal health and balance and to develop a plan for regaining health and balance within a fast-paced stress filled life. This is key to good decision making and sustained leadership performance.

Achieving Organizational Health and Balance: Diagnosis and Regeneration

Provides participants with the skills and confidence to carry out a diagnosis of the state of health and balance (wellness) of their organization without the need for consultant help. You leave with self-help tools so you can do periodic checks and adjustments in order to sustain the desired state of the organization.

Holistic Leadership Development.

For those who are ready to go to the next level of leadership development, expanding your capacity as a leader to nourish a culture of leadership in your organization and sustain optimal, spirited performance. You have already developed increased self-awareness about your personal health and balance by taking the Individual Health and Balance workshop for leaders.

Train the Trainer

Grow into mastery in using and teaching the Genuine Contact™ program. Deepen your understanding of working with Genuine Contact and become authorized to teach the full program in-house and in public workshops. You are invited to join the ongoing international mentoring circle of Trainers and through membership can access resources to support you in working with Genuine Contact including sample training outlines for facilitating your own workshops. As a Genuine Contact Trainer, you are invited to become a member of the Genuine Contact Co-owner Group Inc.

Join our community of more than 130 Genuine Contact Trainers worldwide!